

OPPOSED TO PRIMARY LAW

Captain Cardwell Tells How It May Work.

MR. BRYAN WAS VERY WARY

Gave All the Newspaper Men the Slip
While in Washington—General Ayers
Candidacy—Mr. Doswell Sells
Gelscha Girl.

The Times-Dispatch Bureau,
No. 117 O Street, N. W.,
Washington, D. C., April 14th.

"The Democratic State Committee may soon be up against a very awkward feature of the State primary law of the party," said Captain W. D. Cardwell, of Hanover county, at the Metropolitan Hotel to-day. "If there is no candidate for the nomination for the Senate against Major Daniel," continued Mr. Cardwell, "the State Committee, acting under the primary plan, will simply declare him the nominee, and all the Democrats in the General Assembly will vote for him. But if there should be a candidate, a Democrat, against Senator Daniel, though such a candidate would not get a thousand votes in a State primary, such a primary would have to be ordered. The party would thus be put to a great expense, amounting to thousands of dollars, and all for nothing."

"I do not believe there will be any candidate, weak or strong, against Senator Daniel," Mr. Cardwell concluded, "but it is not impossible that there may be some crank who will run and if he is a Democrat the State Committee will have to order the primary."

Senator Daniel does not expect any opposition, though he said the other day that it was possible there might be another candidate. It is said that every Democratic newspaper in Virginia is for him, MR. BRYAN WARY.

The way Mr. Bryan was not interviewed by correspondents while here yesterday and today could be made the subject of interesting stories, though the men who tried to see him, or who saw him and failed to make him talk, would not think them funny. He registered at the Metropolitan Hotel yesterday afternoon, and after spending a short time in his room went away—to the house of a friend," he said. He was lost to the public until the Jefferson banquet at Hotel Barton last night. He did not return to the hotel this morning, and it was impossible to learn the name of the friend with whom he was staying. Finally about noon, and after repeated failures, I discovered that he was the guest of a gentleman at No. 131 B Street, S. E. At that number it was stated that he had returned to the hotel. At the hotel a few minutes later the information was gained that Mr. Bryan had not yet come in. He was to go away on the 2:30 train of the Chesapeake and Ohio. At 2 o'clock a messenger got his baggage from the hotel, but when I was at the station a few minutes later, the Nebraska statesman was not in the waiting room, nor did a search of the entire train discover him. He may have been in a drawing room.

Mr. Bryan did not discuss politics with the friends he saw. That is, he did not discuss politics with the friends he saw. He was with him for some time yesterday afternoon stated last night that he refused to say anything on any public matter, or to discuss his candidacy for the national chairmanship.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Hon. Rufus A. Ayers, of Scott county, is here to-day. He has nothing to say concerning his gubernatorial candidacy in addition to what he told a Times-Dispatch reporter Saturday night. The announcement that he would make the race was received here with great interest, and it is predicted he will make a strong, if not successful, run. It is recalled that when General Fitzhugh Lee was elected Governor of Virginia, Mr. Ayers, who was then a member of the House of Representatives, led the ticket by several thousand votes. He is regarded as decidedly the strongest candidate the Southwest could offer.

The excursionists from Richmond who came up on Mrs. Gill's train yesterday are not having a good time. The storm which raged all last night, and the well-nigh steady downpour of to-day, has kept many indoors, and those who went out have found such dreary and such circumstances a decidedly dismal occupation.

SOLD A RACER.

Mr. Bernard Doswell, of Hanover county, sold his race-horse, Gelscha Girl, to-day for a good sum. The horse, which was bred at Bedding's since the meet here three weeks ago. He has made some good winners. He will take his horse home to-day or to-morrow, and have them in good form for the Sheepshead meet, which begins in about a week. Mr. Doswell has demonstrated at the Bedding's meeting, which closed to-day, that he has horses which can cross the wire in time to make money.

BURDEN ON SOUTH, SAYS CLEVELAND

with the negroes themselves, upon the sentiment and conduct of the leading and responsible white men of the South, and upon the education of a kindly and helpful feeling on their part towards those in their midst who so much need their aid and encouragement.

I need waste no time in detailing the evidence that this aid and encouragement has thus far been given by the Southern schools for the education of negro children and institutions for their industrial training are scattered all over the South and are liberally assisted by the Southern public and private funds. In fact, I am convinced that the sentiment in favor of the largest extension and broadest influence of Tuskegee Institute and kindred agencies is universal, and I believe that without exception the negroes who are themselves for useful occupations and service will find willing and cheerful patronage and employment among their white neighbors.

I do not know how it may be with other Northern friends of the negro, but I have faith in the honor and sincerity of the respectable white people of the South in their relation with the negro and his improvement and well-being. They do not believe in the social equality of the races, and they make no false pretense in regard to it. That this does not grow out of hatred of the negro is very plain. It seems to me that there is abundant sentiment and abundant help among the Southern whites towards the negro to make us doubt the justice of charging the racial of social equality to prejudice, as is usually understood the word. Thus out of something so much deeper and more imperative than prejudice as to amount to a special insult. Whatever it is, we remember it has condoned the negro's share in the humiliation and spoliation of the white men of the South during the saturnalia of reconstruction days, and has allowed a kindly feeling for the negro to survive the time when the South was deluged by a perilous flood of indiscriminate, unrelenting and blighting negro suffrage. Whatever it is, let us try to be tolerant and considerate of the feelings and even prejudices of our white fellow-countrymen of the South, who, in the solution of the negro problem, must amid their own surroundings, bear the heat of the day and stagger under the weight of the white man's burden.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS.

There are, however, other considerations relating to the future of the negro question, which may be regarded as more important than the objects and purposes of this occasion. As friends of the negro, fully believing in the possibility of his improvement and advancement, and sincerely and confidently laboring to do it, it is folly for us to ignore the importance of the understanding co-operation of the part of the white people of the South in this work. Labor as we will, those who do the lifting of the weight must be those who stand next to it. This co-operation cannot be forced; nor can it be gained by gratuitously running counter to the feelings and tenaciously held Southern ideas, or even prejudices.

We are not brought to the point of doing or overlooking evil that good may come when we proceed upon the theory that before reaching the stage where we may directly and practically confront with the question of the negro full enjoyment of civic advantages or even of all his political privileges, there are immediately before us and around us questions demanding our immediate care and bearing. We are not to be misled by the more remote phases of the negro problem.

These questions that are so immediately pressing have to do with the practical education of the negro and especially with fitting him to compete with his white neighbors in gaining a decent, respectable, remunerative livelihood, Book or Washington. In speaking on the conditions and needs of the race, and placing into the hands of the negro the seeds of the future, we are not to begin and not at the top; nor should we permit our grievances to overshadow our opportunities.

In summing up the whole matter, there is one thing of which we can be absolutely and unreservedly sure. These seeds which we are sowing, and which we are sowing well in the soil at "the bottom of life" the seeds of the black man's development and usefulness. These seeds will not die, but will sprout and grow; and if it be within the wise purpose of God, the hardened surface of a untoward sentiment of prejudice can prevent the bursting forth of the seed. What is the bright sunlight of a cloudless day, that in dealing effectively with these, we can confidently rely upon the encouragement and assistance of every thoughtful and patriotic citizen of the land, where, at the conclusion of his address Mr.

Cleveland introduced Edgar C. Murphy.

DR. ABBOTT'S WORDS.

Dr. Lyman Abbott, who followed, said that the South deserved great credit for taking in as it had an untried problem in helping the negro to help himself. "And the North," he said, "has given him scant credit. He has given him no credit at all. The North has refused him and done many other things towards him that the North never thought of."

Dr. Abbott next spoke of the great work of Booker T. Washington and praised him in the highest terms, declaring he had done as much for the white race as the colored race. His work had really brought about the union of the North and South in the work that he had taken up as his life task.

Quoting a remark made by Henry Ward Beecher to the effect that we "should make the negro worthy first and then give him our aid," Dr. Abbott said: "We make the mistake of giving him our aid first, and the unfortunate negro has had to suffer ever since. What the negro wants is education. It all depends upon education whether the negro will be a shackle to our feet or wings to our body."

W. H. Baldwin, Jr., treasurer of the Tuskegee Institute, announced that soon after the meeting had begun he had received two telegrams, one announcing a gift of $10,000 from a lady in Ohio, and the other a gift of $1,000 from a lady and gentleman in the South. He said that $50,000 had been needed to pay the indebtedness of the institution, and that, taking the gifts into consideration, there was the small sum of $45,000 needed, for which he made an urgent plea, as well as for a further endowment sum.

Mr. Cleveland, in introducing Booker T. Washington, the speaker said: "I have to introduce to you a man too well known by every man in the United States; a man who has been spoken of too frequently and too favorably for it to be necessary for me to say more than here is Booker T. Washington."

PREPARING THE APPEAL

No Intention of Dissolving
Northern Securities Co.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 14.—Just before the close of the stock market to-day reports were current that the Northern Securities Company had decided not to appeal from the merger decision, and would abandon that plan for one of several others. A representative of the company, in a position to speak with authority, declared that the report was absolutely false. He added that no plan of action had yet been determined upon, and might not be for some time.

Another report circulated just before the closing hour of the Stock Exchange was that steps were being taken to compromise the Northern Securities case in some way. Just how this was to be done was not brought out. This report, apparently, was without authority. Another rumor was to the effect that steps were being taken to dissolve the Northern Securities Company, and that the Great Northern and Northern Pacific would be managed in some way independent of the company. This rumor President James H. Hill said: "There's not a word of truth in that story. There is no intention on the part of the Northern Securities people to dissolve the company. On the contrary, we are preparing our appeal papers."

A Wall Street news bureau this afternoon, in connection with the reports that an appeal would not be filed, quotes an informant, named as a "conservative authority," as follows: "The rumor is entirely untrue. There is no intention on the part of the Northern Securities people to dissolve the company. On the contrary, we are preparing our appeal papers."

Washington, D. C., April 14.—The War Department has taken official cognizance of the reported statements of General Frank D. Baldwin, commander of the department of the Colorado, in disparagement of the Philippines and negroes as soldiers, and Secretary Root to-day directed that a formal inquiry be addressed to General Baldwin, asking whether or not he had been correctly quoted. Pending a reply, no action will be taken by the department.

General Baldwin is fresh from the Philippines, and has just assumed command of the department of the Colorado. The alleged remarks which he is reported to have made were to the effect that one of his reasons for liking the Philippines as a soldier was the same that gave him a preference for the negro in the same capacity—that in a fight he was not worried about his safety as it did not make any difference whether he got killed or not.

Death Recalls Unique Case.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Hallot Kilbourne, formerly chief clerk of the Interior Department, and one of the most widely known citizens of the city, died here to-day at the age of 70. He was a native of New York and had been a resident of this city for many years. He was a member of the House of Representatives for several years and was known for his integrity and wisdom. He was a man of great character and was highly respected by his colleagues and the public.

After making a gallant fight in opposition to the reopening of the license question, Mr. James R. Gordon last night quietly departed from the Council chamber, leaving in the hands of his colleague, Mr. James Gunst, his resignation, which he had prepared earlier in the evening.

In presenting the resignation, Mr. Gunst spoke feelingly of the strength of Mr. Gordon, stating that it was with a feeling of deep regret that he presented the resignation. He also spoke of the high character of Mr. Gordon and his many contributions to the city.

Before Mr. Gordon's most intimate friends were apprised of his intention of resigning his seat, they advised, pleaded and begged him to desist, but he was determined, and the matter was carefully drawn up by the Hon. Board of Aldermen of the city of Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen—I feel impelled by reasons which I deem it unnecessary to detail, to present this, my resignation, as a member of your honorable body. In doing this, I beg to extend to each and every member of the Board my sincere thanks for the uniformly kind consideration and courtesy that I have received at their hands.

Very respectfully and truly, your obedient servant,

JAMES R. GORDON.

Mr. Gordon stated to a representative of the Times-Dispatch that he desired to retire from the Board on account of ill health and the great pressure of outside business affairs. Nothing personal entered into the matter.

GEN. BALDWIN'S TALK

Made No Difference Whether Filipinos

Fire-Fighter's Story

How the Strongest Man in the Philadelphia Fire Department—Once the Weakest—Gained His Strength and Health by Using Swamp-Root, the Great Kidney and Bladder Remedy.

HERE'S the story of a man who was near death's door and was saved by using Swamp-Root.

If he came to you and said: "My friend, do you suffer with kidney trouble? Does your back ache? Do you feel bad all over and can't tell exactly what's the matter? Have you tried medicines or doctors without benefit? Are you about discouraged? Then do as I did, and get well—Use Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root! I know it will cure you."

If he did this would you believe him? Wouldn't you, if you were a sufferer, follow his advice, knowing that he bore living, sentient, vital testimony to the wonderful virtues of this great natural remedy?

WELL, that is just what Hugo Hutt, strongest man in the Philadelphia Fire Department, hero of a hundred battles with the flames, is doing now through the medium of this newspaper.

Hugo Hutt has been connected with the Philadelphia Fire Department for the past four years. He is stationed at the engine house at Nineteenth and Callowhill Streets. Mr. Hutt is known as the strongest man in the Fire Department and has taken many prizes at athletic tournaments for his prowess in the field of sports.
